Activity Conduction Report

Date and Time of Activity: 27th September, 2025 / 8 am to 10 am

Activity type: Open

Activity objectives: The main objective of this activity was to contribute towards environmental conservation by cleaning Silver Beach, raising awareness about cleanliness, reducing plastic waste, and encouraging community participation in maintaining sustainable surroundings.

Place of Activity: Silver Beach, Mumbai

Student Name and SAP ID:

Name of the Association: Beach warrior team by Khushiyaan Foundation

Activity description: The Khushiyaan Foundation's Beach Warrior initiative organized a dedicated beach cleaning drive at Silver Beach, Mumbai. The effort commenced early in the morning during low tide, allowing volunteers and students to safely reach and clean larger stretches of the shoreline. Together, they spent two hours collecting non-biodegradable waste such as plastic bottles, food wrappers, thermocol pieces, and polythene bags that had accumulated due to daily human activities and tidal movements.

The cleanup resulted in the successful removal of multiple bags of garbage, leaving Silver Beach noticeably cleaner for both the local community and visitors. Through this initiative, participants not only helped in environmental preservation but also promoted the importance of sustainability and civic responsibility. The activity reinforced the impact of consistent community efforts towards creating safer and more welcoming coastal environments.

Conclusion: The beach cleaning activity conducted at Silver Beach under the Khusiyaan Foundation's Beach Warrior initiative achieved its goal of removing significant amounts of plastic and other non-biodegradable waste, directly improving the condition of the shoreline and creating a safer, cleaner environment for everyone. Participants demonstrated a strong sense of community and environmental stewardship, inspiring further public involvement and raising greater awareness about the importance of sustainable practices.

This initiative showed how consistent efforts by volunteers can make a tangible difference in preserving coastal ecosystems. The students' involvement not only benefited the immediate physical surroundings but also contributed to long-term coastal conservation efforts by empowering communities and setting an example of responsible citizen action.

Name of the Association: Blood Donation Drive By DJS NSS

Activity description: The NSS unit of Dwarkadas J. Sanghvi College of Engineering (DJS NSS) organized a blood donation drive on 27th September 2025. The drive took place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the college premises and aimed to encourage voluntary blood donation among students and faculty members. The event was carefully planned to ensure a smooth, safe, and efficient donation process with medical professionals present to conduct health checks and oversee the procedure. Volunteers coordinated the registration, donation, and post-donation care to support donors throughout the event.

This blood donation drive witnessed enthusiastic participation, with numerous donors contributing to this life-saving cause. The collected blood units were intended to support patients in need, highlighting the critical role of community involvement in healthcare. The event also served to spread awareness about the importance of regular blood donation, dispelling myths and motivating more individuals to contribute in the future. The DJS NSS
